UVM Natural Areas

50th Anniversary Symposium

November 20th, 2024

1:00pm - 5:00pm

Davis Center Grand Maple Ballroom

Keynote Speaker:
Ethan Tapper

Author of "How to Love a Forest"

This year, we celebrate 50 years of UVM's Natural Areas System, comprising 2,400 acres of unique natural communities, including Mount Mansfield's summit ridgeline, Shelburne Pond, Pease Mountain, and Centennial Woods. Join us for talks on the history and academic use of these areas, and learn about new initiatives to engage with these "living laboratories" for conservation, stewardship, and UVM's planetary health efforts.

Paul is an alumni of UVM and current professor at Montana State University. He was recently given the Community Development Achievement Award. This and more are highlighted in this months alumni spotlight!

ENVS SPOTLIGHTS

STUDENT SPOTLIGHT: CELIA RELLAND

Cil Relland made a brand new kiosk in East Woods!

UVM has new trail signage! One of the 2024 recipients of the Ian Worley award, Cil Relland, worked on updating trail signage this summer in East Woods- a UVM-owned natural area right in Shelburne. This award, along with the UVM Natural Areas program, helped fund a brand new trailhead kiosk, reflective signs throughout the trail, an updated trail guide, and multiple informative posters containing information about trees, ticks, invasive species, current research and more! If you haven't visited East Woods yet, we highly recommend walking the trail and learning about its unique features!
